It is very possible that a glimpse of heaven precipitated Divine help for the Underground Railroad. Harriet Tubman was a compassionate catalyst to help slaves cross over to "freedom".

Understanding Veterans' Near-Death Experiences with Roberta Moore, film producer

NDE Training Video For Health Professionals

David Hufford – Research Results of a Study of Combat Veteran NDEs

Department of Defense funded paper and results of a study of NDEs of combat veterans and the response of care providers.

15-page questionnaire to combat veterans and 8-page questionnaire clinicians; 38% of overall vet sample and 49% of those who almost died, described experiences meeting Greyson's NDE Scale criteria.

Clinicians who treated them rarely or never heard of NDE and considered them to be symptoms of mental illness and referred to psychiatric care – a major error according to contemporary psychiatric literature... produces stigma.

Need for correcting this misunderstanding is a clinical, scientific, religious and ethical imperative!

Richard Kelly, EdD, LCPC – First Responders Who Feel the Presence of the Dead and Pray for Them

Findings of a 1996 study of Emergency Service Workers (police, fire/EMS) who reported experiences related to being present at the moment of traumatic death and felt a presence, communication of some kind, or a feeling of attachment from a deceased victim.

The use of reverent acts on behalf of the deceased was developed for several cases and the spiritual beliefs and responses of ESW were also studied. 28% reported experiencing contact; 68% performed reverent act.

The study suggests that the dying or recently dead may attempt to communicate with those around them at the time of their death. It also suggests that the use of reverent acts on behalf of the victim is a useful tool for the ESW in responding to the contact.

P.M.H. Atwater

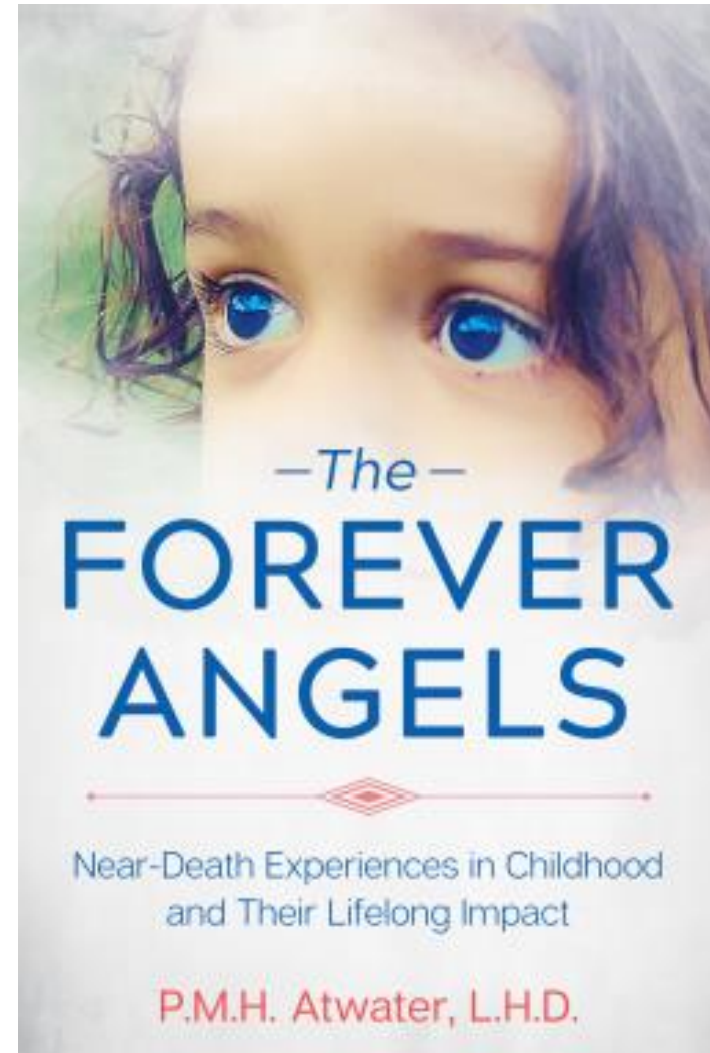

Research based on 38 years with altered states of consciousness, mysticism, psychic phenomena and transformational process.

An investigation of NDE around young children, plus womb memories – with 120 people, now older adults yet able to verify their experiences. The question asked them: Did your early NDE make a difference in your life?

Results compared with research done in the 90's with 277 people detailed in The New Children and NDE), that covered the same span of ages but also included teens and young adults.

The younger group looked forward; the older group looked backward.

Findings: Aftereffects far more impactful than previously thought

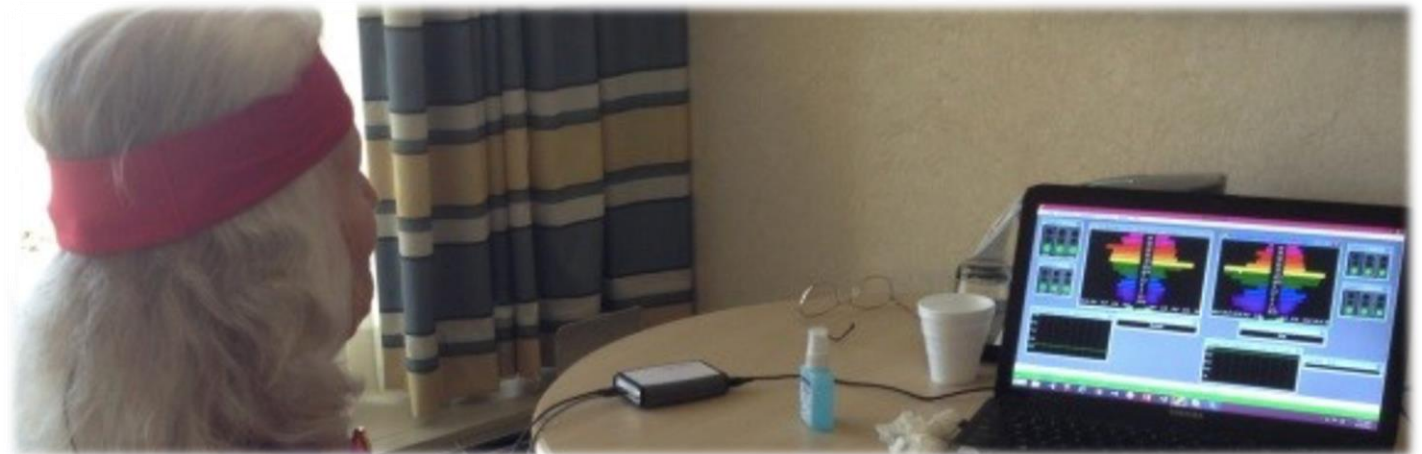

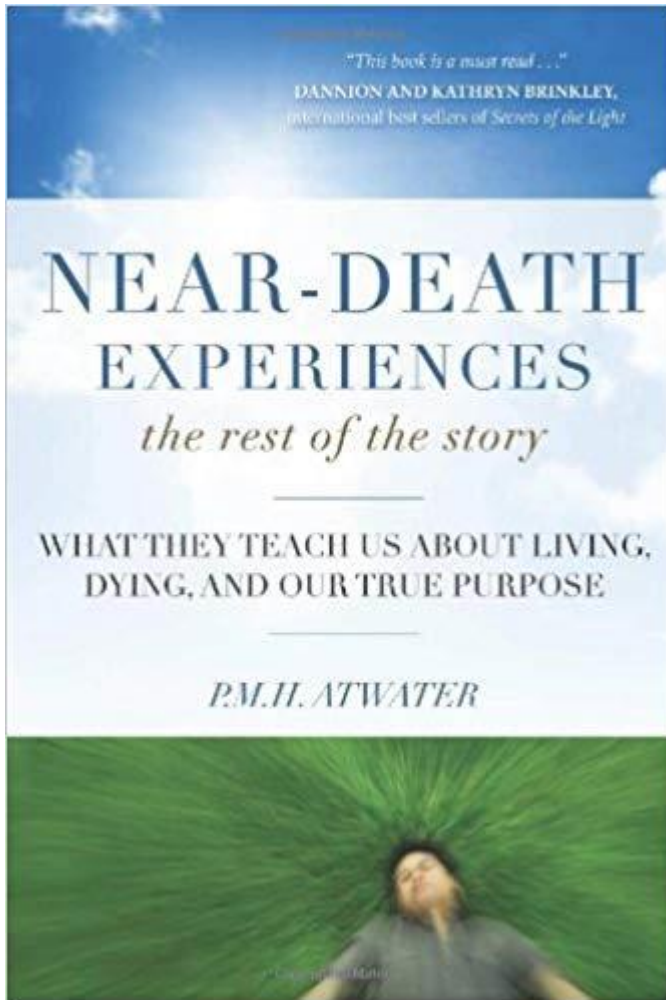

Study on Near-Death Survivor and Investigator P.M.H. Atwater

Judith Pennington conducted a Mind Mirror study on the brainwaves of Near-Death experiencer and P.M.H. on May 15, 2016, in Virginia Beach, VA.

She had 3 NDEs and superconscious brainwave patterns.

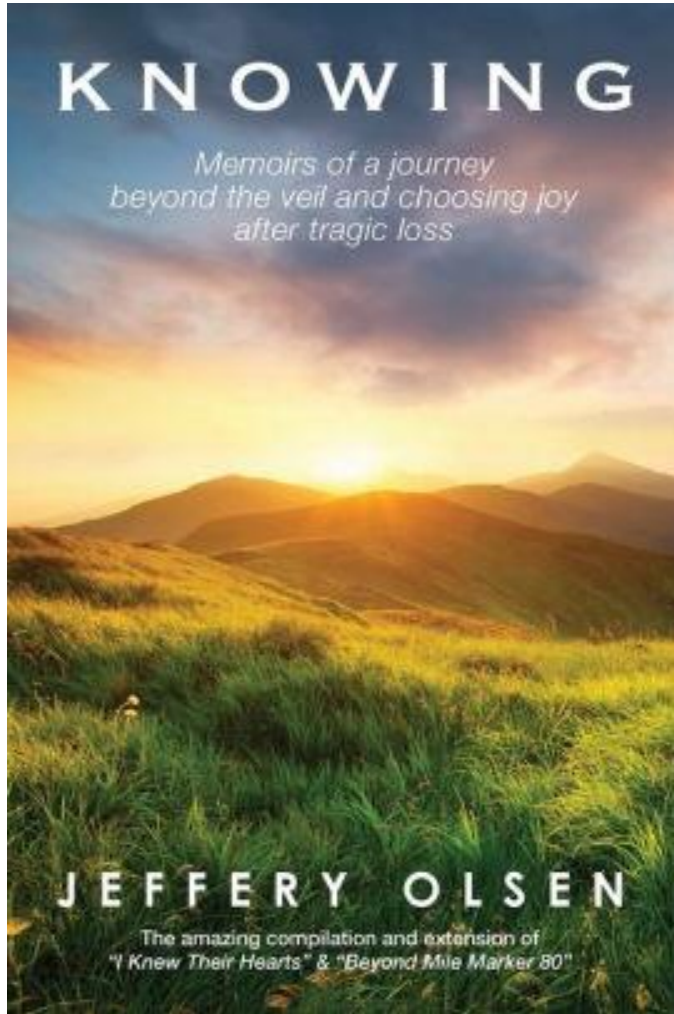

Her life work in this field with over 4000 interviews with people who die and came back to life.

Decades experience with the dying, she emphasized that pain control is critical for mystical moments, which are common!
